

for 9th–12th graders

THIS IS YOUR YEAR TO LEAD.

Colleges, scholarship committees and employers want students who can speak up, lead a team and solve real problems. The Peace Ambassador Leadership Program (PALP) is a year-long program where you build those skills, and the proof to back them up.

"PALP was a tight-knit community. Everyone felt accepted." — PALP student

WHAT MAKES PALP DIFFERENT

01

Mentors who get it. PALP is led by college students, most of them PALS alumni.

02

New friends. Meet peers from other schools who want to grow, too.

03

Real recognition. Earn awards and celebrate at the Crossing-Over ceremony.

04

Miami Dolphins events. Take part in Football UNITES community events.

in their words

"Because of PALP, I hesitate less to reach out to people that seem closed off or excluded."

— Robertza, PALP student

"I learned that leadership is not about creating followers but creating other leaders instead."

— PALP student
